

pleaded, He had been of singular Service to his Majesty upon the present Occasion, in various Shapes; and the first Witness called was Gen. Cope, who being asked by the Prisoner's Council if he knew him; he replied no, but desired that might not prejudice the Prisoner, as his Stay was so short, and he saw so many People, that he could not possibly remember different Faces: He was asked, if he remembered being at Banff, and what Assistance he met with there? He said, he remembered being there, and that he was furnished with a Number of Carriages and Horses by the Magistrate, and that possibly the Prisoner might be the Man that was active in that Service. Abernethy's Council then produced Witnesses to prove him the only acting Magistrate at that Time, the others (viz. the Provost and the two Bailiffs) being sick or absent. Another Witness prov'd, that one Capt. Rogers sent (a few Days before the General came there) upon extraordinary Business, wanting Horses, was furnished by the Prisoner, and directed by him to go a different Road to what he was ordered, to prevent his falling into the Hands of the Rebels. As to his Conduct at Carlisle, the Prisoner called a Shop-keeper, who had received considerable Damage from some of the Rebel Army; but upon his making Application to him, he granted him a Guard, which prevented him from receiving further Mischiefs. Before this Witness, he produced two or three to prove, that upon the Rebels coming into Banff, and having received Intelligence how active he had been in the Service of his Majesty, they plundered his House, took him Prisoner, kept him so while they staid in Town, and then let him out as a Prisoner upon a Horse without any Saddle. The next Witness called upon was a Captain of Foot who was taken Prisoner by the Rebels at Carlisle, who swore, that during his Imprisonment the Prisoner took frequent Opportunities of conversing with him alone, and always acquainted him with the Result of the Councils of War, and frequently said he wished the Town was delivered to the Duke, for that most of the Scots were for it, but that the English opposed it. Upon which this Witness advised the Prisoner to get as many Names as he could to an Instrument for delivering up the Town, and to send it to the Duke; and that the Prisoner was one of the Persons who went to the Duke about delivering up the Town.

Upon the whole, the Jury brought him in Guilty, but recommended him to the Court for his Majesty's Mercy.

Yesterday being the Day appointed for commemorating the Deliverance of these Nations from the Gunpowder Plot, there was a Round of the Great Guns from the Castle at Noon, in the Afternoon the Musick-bells rung, and in the Evening there was a grand Ball at the Lodgings of the Right Hon. the Earl of Albemarle in the Abbey of Holyroodhouse, from whence, betwixt 6 and 8, curious Fire-works were played off, which at the same time vastly surprized and delighted the numerous Company of Spectators.

That Day the Synod of Lothian and Tweeddale heard the Case of the Parish of Borrowstonness, and delayed the Decision of the same 'till next Synod.

They also unanimously appointed Mr. Ebenezer Brown to be settled Minister of the Gospel at Pennycuik upon Wednesday last night.

Yesterday died, of a sudden Illness, in the Seventy first Year of his Age, the Honourable Mr. JAMES GRAHAM of Airth, Judge of the High Court of Admiralty, and Dean of the Faculty of Advocates, among whom he had been an eminent Lawyer for upwards of Forty eight Years. As his natural and acquired Endowments had singularly fitted him for these high Stations, so he acquitted himself in them with a suitable Dignity, Honour, Prudence and Integrity. He was besides a Person of a generous and affable Temper; to all which his graceful Mein and Appearance, which at once commanded both Love and Respect, did add no small Lustre. His Death is a great Loss to his Country, and is universally lamented.

Edinburgh, Monday, November 10, 1746.

Since our last arrived a Holland Mail.

From the London Gazette, Nov. 4.

Boisleduc, Nov. 10.

SIR John Ligonier arrived here on the 7th instant, and yesterday the 4 English Battalions, which are to be here in Garrison for the Winter, marched in; Wolf's remains at Grave; Pultney's marches To-morrow for Heusden; and Douglas's for Clundert: Lord Stair's Regiment of Dragoons is to be at Langstraat; Lord Rothes's at Woudruckem, Heuden and Asperen, and Sir John Cope's at Leerdam, Meerkerk and Vianne. The Hessians are at Arnheim and Zutphen. The Hanoverians remain still in Camp.

Hague, Nov. 11. By our last Advices from Toulon, a Fleet of English Ships had been seen off the Port of that Town, in their Way, as was supposed, to Nice, to join the English Squadron already there. By Letters from Marshal Maillebois's Army of the 28th inst. N. S. the French continued at their Posts of St. Paul, St. Laurent and Vance; several Redoubts were building for the better Defence of the Passes, and 64 Pieces of Cannon had been sent from Toulon for that Purpose. By our last Accounts from Brussels, Marshal Saxe remained there.

Whitehall, Nov. 4. The King has been pleased to constitute the Right Hon. George Lord Rossie, Richard Somers, Colin Campbell, and Mansfeldt Cardonnel, Esqrs. together with Alexander LeGrand, Esq; in the room of Alexander Arbuthnot, Esq; to be Commissioners for the Receipt and Management of his Majesty's Customs, Salt, and other Duties, in that Part of Great Britain called Scotland.

Whitehall, November 4.

His Majesty having been pleased to order a Board of General Officers, consisting of one Field Marshal and four Lieutenants General, to examine into the Conduct of Lieutenant General Sir John Cope, and Colonel Lascelles, from the breaking out of the Rebellion in North-Britain, till the Action was over at Preston near Seaton; and likewise into the Conduct of Brigadier General Fowke, from the Time he took the Command of the two Regiments of Dragoons, then in Edinburgh, till the said Action was over; the said Board, after having examined upwards of forty Witnesses, made the following Report to his Majesty:

The several Examinations being finished; all Parties attending were dismissed; Whereupon we the said Field Marshal, and other General Officers before named, having duly weighed and considered the several Matters laid before us, upon our Examination into the Conduct, Behaviour and Proceedings of Lieutenant General Sir John Cope, Colonel Peregrine Lascelles, and Brigadier General Thomas Fowke, contained in the foregoing State thereof, do, in further Obedience to your Majesty's said Warrant, most humbly report, That having made all the Enquiry we could after proper Persons, who were able to give us any Information relating to the Matters aforesaid, and having examined all such as could be brought before us, (there being several others whose Duty on your Majesty's Service in Scotland would not admit of their leaving it to come before us,) It doth appear to us, and we are unanimously of Opinion,

That Sir John Cope made all the proper and necessary Preparations for the Support of the Troops, with as much Dispatch as he was able, both at Edinburgh and Stirling.

That he also made the proper Applications to the Chiefs of the Clans, that were reputed to be well-affected to your Majesty and Government, for them to join your Majesty's Troops.

That he used all possible Diligence and Expedition before, and on his March to Dalwhinnny, considering the Difficulties and Disappointments he met with.

That his attacking the Rebels on the Corryarrick, with any Prospect of Success, was impracticable.

That his March to Inverness is justified by the unanimous Opinion of the Council of War, and the repeated Assurances of being joined on the March, and at Inverness, by the Clans that were reputed to be well-affected to your Majesty and Government; of which he afterwards found himself disappointed, except by 200 Monro's, who marched with him from Inverness to Aberdeen.

That his going to Aberdeen, and then by Sea to Dunbar, was the only proper Measure he had left to take.

That Sir John Cope's Disposition of his Body of Troops on the Field of Action was judicious, and the Ground on which they were engaged according to the Plan and Description of many Officers who were present, appears to have been well chosen.

That he did his Duty as an Officer, both before, at, and after the Action; and his personal Behaviour was without Reproach; and that the Misfortune on the Day of Action was owing to the shameful Behaviour of the private Men, and not to any Misconduct or Misbehaviour of Sir John Cope, or any of the Officers under his Command.

As to Colonel Peregrine Lascelles, it does not appear to us that any Misconduct or Misbehaviour can be laid to his Charge; he having plainly proved, that he was at his Post both before and at the Action.

As to Brigadier General Thomas Fowke, we are of Opinion, that his March from Coltbridge to Dunbar was right; and the Orders he made twice to the Lord Provoft of Edinburgh to march into the City with the Dragoons for its Defence, (though refused) were commendable; and that his personal Behaviour in the Action was alfo without Reproach; and that he did not quit the Field of Action before the Troops were entirely broke and difperfed.

Upon the whole, we were unanimously of Opinion, That Sir John Cope's Behaviour has been unblameable; and that there is no Ground for Accufation againft the faid Sir John Cope, Colonel Peregrine Laffcelles, or Brigadier General Thomas Fowke.

All which is moft humbly fubmitted to your Majefty.

On Saturday laft the Court fat at St. Margaret's-Hill, Southwark, on the Trial of the Rebel Prifoners, when, Allan Cameron, a Captain in Lochziel's Regiment was tried: The Evidence on the Prifoner's Defence deponed, that he was forced from his Family, a Wife and ten Children, by Cameron of Lochziel (to whom he was a Tenant) one of the Highland Chiefs who made his Escape after the Battle of Culloden: But it having been before fully proved by the Evidence for the Crown, that he marched in that Regiment as a Captain from Scotland to Carlife, from thence to Derby, and back again into Scotland, without being under any Reftraint, or Confinement, and was at the Battle of Culloden, where he was wounded, the Jury found him guilty. It appeared by the Evidence for the Crown, that he behaved with a great deal of Humanity and Candour; that at Edinburgh he prevented one of the King's Officers from being murdered by the Rebels.

Then Sir John Wedderburn was brought to the Bar, and the Pannel of the Jury was called over; but there being a great many abfent, there was not a fufficient Number to make a Jury, the Prifoner having challenged thirty, and ten were fworn.—The Court fined feveral of thofe abfent 10 l. each, and three of the Sheriff's Officers 5 l. each, for Non-Attendance.

EDINBURGH, November 10.

By a private Letter from London this Post we have Advice, that Sir John Wedderburn after a long Trial was convicted.

The Election of Magistrates by Poll for this City, is to proceed under the Direction of the right Hon. the Lords Elchies, Drummore and Tinwald, the Lord Advocate and Mr. Patrick Haldane one of the Solicitors.

By a Gentleman from Air we are informed, that on Thursday last 160 Laits of Herrings were brought into that Harbour; that 'tis computed upwards of 1000 Laits have been taken on that Coast this Season.

On Friday last the Trade failed for London, under Convoy of the Bridgewater Man of War.

On Saturday last about 10 o'Clock at Night, a Fire broke out in a Tenement of Land at the Back of the Canongate, and, as the Possessors of the Ground Flat, where it began, had been attempting for some Time to smother it, when Assistance was called, there was no Possibility of extinguishing the Flames. By this unlucky Accident eleven Families are burnt out, and to add to their unhappy Sufferings have saved none of their Effects.

The Constables and City Guard did their utmost; and, tho' the Tenement set on Fire was past Recovery, prevented by the Assistance of the Fire Engines the further spreading of the Flames.

3 This Day, the 9th Day of the Moon, it is high. Water at Leith, Forenoon, at 9 o'clock, 6 M. Afternoon, at 9, 30 M. Tuesday, Forenoon, at 9, 54 M. Afternoon, at 10, 18 M. Wednesday, Forenoon at 10, 42 M. Afternoon, at 11, 6 M.
